

Fallopian tube catheterization as a treatment of proximal tubal obstruction - natural treatment of infertility

Maciej Szmygin, MD
Medical University of Lublin

obstruction - natural treatment of infertility

laparoscopic chromotubation

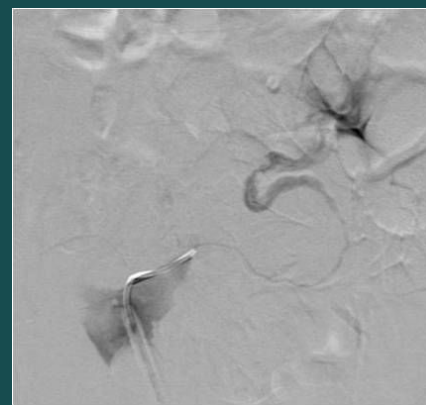

hysterosalpingography

118 patients diagnosed with tubal factor infertility were referred to Department of Interventional Radiology between January 2017 and December 2018

Background

Study design

Fallopian tube catheterization is safe and effective natural method in treatment of proximal tubal obstruction

- technical success 80%
- pregnancy rate 27.4%
- procedure to conception 8.2 MONTHS

Procedure

Results

Conclusion